

THROUGHS VISIT FAIR IN LISBON; FINISHES TODAY

9,000 Checked Through Turnstiles On Second Day

SADDLE HORSES CLAIM ATTENTION

Lisbon Team Is Winner In Weight Pulling Contest

LISBON, Sept. 12.—Close to 9,000 persons passed through the turnstiles here yesterday as the second day of the 90th annual Columbian county fair passed into history.

Today was the last day of the fair and an even larger attendance was anticipated this afternoon and tonight.

Fairmount Band Plays
Visitors yesterday morning and afternoon heard the Fairmount children's home band and the Lisbon High school band in the evening. A fireworks display climaxed last night's fair program.

Today was children's day at the fair and Salem public schools called a half-holiday in order to permit students to witness the exhibits and enjoy the programs.

A Columbian High school band of 125 pieces, directed by Richard Farmer, was to play today.

While the exhibits are numerous at the fair there is a noticeable lack of entries in certain shows.

The cattle show is not as extensive as in former years and at the hog barn raisers of the county have been able to only half fill the building. The poultry and sheep shows are normal.

Much enthusiasm was displayed over the saddle horse show at the fair last night. The first of its kind ever held here. Officials announced that a similar event already is planned for next year with a much larger field of entries.

Blue ribbons in the saddle event yesterday went to entries from the Beaverkill farm, Fredericktown.

The Beaverkill farm took first honors in the fine harness event in which G. A. Clay of East Palestine was second. Walter Johnson drove and was mounted on the Fredericktown farm entries.

In the five-gaited event, the Beaverkill farm had the only entry, and also took blue ribbon honors in the three-gaited saddle event. G. A. Clay of East Palestine was second.

Betty Kennewig, of Salem, on "Don," a bay gelding, gave a riding performance. Robert C. Harrod of Leontonia was in charge of the horse show. Dr. C. McCandless of Salem was judge.

The horse show Wednesday night was preceded by a livestock parade.

Weight Pulling Contest
In the weight-pulling contest yesterday, Harry Dillon of Lisbon took first place honors when his team of geldings pulled the weighted sled a distance of 13 feet. The regulation goal distance was 22½ feet.

All teams entered in the weight-pulling contest were given three chances.

D. T. McKarns of Summitville placed second when his team pulled the sled for 11½ feet.

Steven Stiveck of Fairview placed third and the team of Swickard and Clark, Toronto, was fourth.

J. H. Sinclair, Hanoverton, was in charge of the linemen while Vernon E. Crouse, North Lima, acted as judge.

The Grate Motor Co., of Salem took first place in an auto pageant Wednesday night. The Turk Nash Motor Co., East Liverpool, second; Douglas, East Liverpool, third; W. C. Coy, Salem, fourth and Harris Garage, fifth. Miss Dorothy Whitcomb of Salem rode in the Grate Ford V-8 entry.

Another weight-pulling contest was to open fair events at the fair this morning for teams over 3,000 pounds.

The General Food Co., will award a $5 basket of groceries to the woman whose grape jelly is judged the best at the fair, it was announced.

THE LION ROARS

Geneva's anxious murmuring was pierced Wednesday by a roar from the British lion. Great Britain, in the person of Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, announced it was willing to stand between the League of Nations and the fate which awaits it if Italy becomes guilty of "unprovoked aggression" against Ethiopia.

Skepticism suggests at the outset that Britain will not stand alone. Sir Samuel was speaking in behalf of concerted action, not individual action. "The league stands and my country stands with it for collective maintenance of the covenant in its entirety and particularly for steady, collective resistance to all acts of unprovoked aggression," he said.

Thus, it may be said Great Britain has promised to do all it can without actually promising to do anything, unless other members of the League of Nations are willing to cooperate. Sir Samuel has tried to stir the league from the brink of disaster without committing his government to any foolish risk. He has expressed the British position, but he has not bound his nation to anything more tangible than its obligations as a member of an organization which seems doomed to lose prestige in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

It is noticed that Great Britain again has asserted its belief in Italy's right to colonization in Ethiopia—peaceful colonization. The distinction between what Italy is prepared to do and what Great Britain is willing to tolerate is plain. His Majesty's government, as a member of the League of Nations, is opposed to a military adventure by Italy at Ethiopia's expense. Whether or not the British will be obliged to endure that adventure against their official inclination remains to be seen.

UNDERCURRENTS

"Certain crimes, as political crimes, are not individual acts. The individuals implicated in them are negligible compared with the emotional undercurrents which provoke them to act."

Dr. J. L. Moreno, expert in mass psychology, thus attempts to explain why Dr. Carl A. Weiss Jr., the young doctor who murdered Sen. Long, sacrificed his life.

It is significant the public assumed immediately upon hearing of the assassination that Dr. Weiss was motivated by political animosity. Circumstances made that the obvious explanation. None other seemed necessary.

Dr. Weiss was seen only as an unimportant individual who happened to have yielded first to the suggestion of murder as a means of breaking Sen. Long's dictatorial rule of Louisiana. In other words he was the marked victim of an undercurrent of feeling stronger than himself.

Sen. Long, himself, was the victim of similar circumstances. His dominant personality enabled him to rise above others, but he was no less subject to an undercurrent of feeling than was the obscure man who assassinated him. Without discontent, he would have been powerless.

Sen. Long shrewdly capitalized on a state of unrest in Louisiana to establish himself as its political leader. Subsequently, he rode the same current of dissatisfaction to national prominence under his banner of "Share the Wealth." He was unpopular, but he sustained himself with his popularity among those who believed in him, a fact which frequently is overlooked.

It was inevitable, as he realized, that sooner or later some member of the bitter opposition he had created would make an attack on his life. To protect himself he hired bodyguards, but where animosity is as general as it was in his case complete safety is virtually impossible. He had not only one person to fear but thousands who were potential assassins. Dr. Weiss, who apparently was neither more nor less concerned with politics than any other member of the anti-Long group in Louisiana, was the first to yield to the impulse of violence.

There ought to be a protest against cheap cartoons which seek to ridicule and drag down the constitution of the United States. No good American would do that.—Miami Herald.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Out on Queens boulevard near Forest Hills there has sprung up something entirely new in depression entertainment. The effect is a Southern plantation, crude and country, bearing the name of "De South." It's lit by oil torches and lanterns hung from whistle-trees.

Admission is free, a plate dinner 50 cents and tin cups of beer are dispensed from a corn-crib bar. Off-side is a scrubby corral with an old nag roaming around. The entrance is over an old-fashioned four-step stile and benches and tables are scattered picnic style.

The orchestra pit is a dug-out in a haystack where black musicians in overalls and straw hats play kazooes. The only other instrument is a guitar. The waitresses are garbed in picaninny dress. A couple may dance all evening for a dollar and the floor is well filled.

The whole enterprise is quartered on a long abandoned lot and probably represents an investment of not more than $1,000. Yet from the opening it has proved a winner. The immense free parking space is filled with limousines of Long Islanders stopping for a bit of slumming.

No poet in the world lives so luxuriously as Annunzio. His villa on the picturesque mountainside at Lake Garda Italy, is one of the most magnificent estates in Europe. There is a pretentious entrance, like a refined gateway to Lung Park. On the highest peak is a war ship, a relic of his gallant days in Fiume. He has two planes, five cars, fifteen dogs and an army of servants that fairly tumble over each other. All at the expense of the Italian government.

Robert Sherwood, the playwright, is reputedly among the most welcome American visitors to Vienna. His sympathetic play, "Reunion in Vienna," contributed largely to his popularity. A correspondent, visiting there, writes: "My first visit since 1928 and what a change. No one smiles. They just keep hoping. On the anniversary of the Dollfuss assassination the whole town paused in mournful silence. Everything was dark save for the two candles that flickered in every available window. It's the most lasting personal sorrow I ever beheld."

Last of the Viennese boulevardiers is the writer, Ferenc Molnar. Every afternoon at three he sits at his favorite cafe table sipping his favorite tipples—a light pernod faintly hued with grenadine. His foot-long carved ivory cigarette holder juts upward at the Joe Cannon angle. And the only bright relief in his rather dour expression is his shining monocle.

Incidentally, I have a feeling I had the nearest close-up I shall ever attain of an 18 karat cosmopolite in a Waldorf foyer the other day. He stepped from an elevator, a be-spattered, gardenia-symphony in two-toned gray with a Ben Ali Haggin twirl to his slight mustache. A charmingly fluffly Billie Burke type on a divan rose expectantly exclaiming, "My dear Baron, you are late!" He murmured some polite nothing, touched her fingers lightly to his lips and, as casually as one might shoot a cuff, dropped a monocle from his eye smack into his vest pocket without touching it! Then he gave her his arm and together they marched toward a dining room.

Then there's Grove Patterson's mad ambition to walk behind a monolith across a mosaic floor slyly dropping watch crystals at intervals.

Thingumbobs: Lowell Thomas was a school teacher in Colorado before he wrote a book about Lawrence of Arabia and became famous. . . . Oscar of the Waldorf never smoked until past 60. . . . But now he gives a pipe thatta. . . . Lamar, Mo. is agitating a Ted Cook avenue to honor the humorist who has made the town famous. . . . A valet on the Prince of Wales royal staff is named Niptuck. . . . Ben Ames Williams is another author who avoids New York save on most pressing business. . . . Chic Sale in only two years of authoring on the side netted $125,000.

Leon Gordon stopped in a cafeteria near his studio for a bucketty-buckitty bite the other noon. His coffee had too much cream and he asked for a stronger cup. When it was set down, the waitress archly inquired: "Is that too less."

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, September 13

Judging by the lunar transits, sustained by the mutual aspects, this should be a day of fine initiative and enterprise, with all the forces and faculties under high stimuli for launching new projects. This may involve a change attended by some uncertainties and hazards, especially of a financial nature. But by shrewdness, clever insight to doubtful situations and hard work, all should flourish in the long run. Tact and subtlety, especially in signing papers, should win out.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of great initiative and enterprise, with rather strenuous efforts in putting over new plans and projects. Change of an uncertain or financially perilous nature seems involved, but with shrewdness, tact and particularly keen insight into thwarting situations, and with unswerving application, all should prosper in the end. A diplomatic mind will further this.

A child born on this day, although very energetic, resourceful and aggressive, may have a crafty or shrewd mind and be disposed to hard and persistent work, thus winning out over many obstacles.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

SENATOR LONG'S "My first days in the White House," finished just before he died, a book that he was destined never to hold in his hand will enable its readers to speculate intelligently. In that book, Senator Long reveals political plans and his opinions of public men, in word and caricature.

You learn that if chosen president he would select former Gov. Alfred E. Smith for a most important position, that of budget director, with cabinet rank. This indicates that once possessed of power, Long would use it cautiously. Former Gov. Smith could hardly be expected to "share the wealth" too recklessly.

SENATOR LONG is gone; his power ceases, as though he had never lived. Others will pick up the reins of power, in New Orleans and Louisiana; another will take his place in the senate. Efforts, futile, will be made to find "another Huey Long."

There is nothing left but the memory of a powerful man, again emphasizing Goethe's definition of "personality," as "the highest good fortune of earth's children."

"PERSONALITY" that cannot be described was Senator Long's in the highest degree.

During the Democratic convention of 1932, in Chicago, while Gov. Smith's fight continued against the nomination of Newton D. Baker and other conditions made Franklin D. Roosevelt's nomination possible, a short, stocky man with a strong southern accent appeared on the platform. It was Huey Long, appearing to demand what he believed to be his political rights and GETTING THEM.

Not one in a hundred in the great hall knew his name or ever had heard of him. But the moment he spoke everybody knew that he was "SOMEBODY." One reporter, sitting with others below the speaker's stand, after Long appeared, telegraphed to a well known newspaper man in the west:

"There is one powerful man at this convention, somebody named Huey Long from New Orleans, who makes other 'great Democrats' here look and sound like white mice."

HUEY LONG is dead at 42 years of age.

The World says:

"How young, how pitiful, to die without full opportunity?" Everything is comparative. Alexander the Great, who died at 32, was ruler of half the world at 25; Keats died at 26; Shelley at 30. Today men do not develop as rapidly as in old days when Napoleon thought of suicide because he had done nothing at an age that found Alexander ruler of the world.

THE DEATH of Huey Long, regretted throughout a nation that loathes cowardly assassination, is important not alone because of Senator Long's powerful personality, but also because of its possible effect on the national election of 1936.

BITTERLY hostile to President Roosevelt and his policies, Huey Long had announced his intention to fight the administration in the coming election, saying that if he approved the Republican candidate, he might support the Republican ticket; otherwise, he would run as an independent Democrat. It can never be known what following he would have had.

WITH Senator Long's death that which he stood for, in so far as he is concerned, comes to an end. His work was typical of political under-

Varicose Veins

VARICOSE VEINS are unsightly as well as painful. They are often the forerunner of a more serious affliction of the vein, perhaps of that disturbance known as "phlebitis."

Hardly a day passes that I do not receive an inquiry regarding varicose veins. In most instances the writer is one who desires information about the so-called "injection treatment" of this disorder.

In reality this treatment for it has been successfully used for several years. To explain the procedure it is necessary to go somewhat into detail in the mechanism of varicose veins, which are blood vessels which have become enlarged and tortuous. They become enlarged chiefly because of certain changes in the vessel walls.

Normally Elastic

Normally all blood vessels have some elasticity and are easily distended or compressed. A normal blood vessel can be compared to a rubber-band. When stretched it can still serve its purpose because it immediately recoils to its normal size.

But when the elasticity is lost it does not function as it should. It becomes firm and brittle. The blood is no longer assisted and hurried through the vessel. On the contrary the blood pressure may serve to distend the vessel wall.

It is probable as I have suggested, that varicose veins are often due to some inherent weakness in the walls of the blood vessels. The condition is found in certain families and is especially common in persons who are markedly overweight. Those who stand a great deal, as policemen and barbers, are very apt to develop varicose veins.

Many different types of elastic bandages and stockings are used by sufferers from varicose veins. These appliances may give temporary relief but never cure the condition. In the more severe forms of varicose veins operative methods have been used.

Painful Operation

The diseased vein is dissected out and removed. It is a painful procedure and leaves a disfiguring scar as well. In many instances the scar has proved to be as annoying as the varicose vein.

Today treatment is given by injecting the vein with a special "sclerosing" solution. It produces an inflammation on the inside of the vein, which serves ultimately to close the distended vein. The painless injections are given two or three times weekly and continued

HOW DOES SHE KEEP HER Youthful Skin?

SOME women have complexions that never seem to age. They keep—for years—that soft, velvety skin and radiant complexion that wins the admiration of men and the envy of all.

How do they manage to keep this loveliness so far beyond their teens?

Scientists have discovered the answer. They tell us that this glowing type of beauty lasts longer when nature's store of certain essential mineral salts is renewed constantly.

No diet can be entirely depended on to supply these vital elements in just the right proportions. Yet there is a way to solve this beauty problem.

A leading University chemist has perfected a formula which combines all vital elements, including the 11 Magic Minerals, offering them to you in a new kind of delicious bread—Youth Bread. This formula is used exclusively by the bakers of Youth Bread. Ask for Youth Bread at your grocer's today. Serve it with every meal. You'll like its flavor.

SYNOPSIS
Jerome Crain, young ship-builder and a lovely society girl named Linda, escape in a small boat from San Cristobal, a remote island off the coast of the Philippines. Linda and Jerome, who are not at all in love, are forced to risk being mutually bored rather than endure an indefinite stay aboard ship. From the moment they land on a strange island, queer happenings occur. Their boat is set adrift, their clothing stolen; yet there is no other sign of a living human, except periodic cries from the jungle. Exploring, they come upon a small plantation and house, having every appearance of being well tended but deserted. Among the few household furnishings are some priceless Spanish chests. The discovery of a heavy whip leads Linda and Jerry to assume that the owner must be cruel.

CHAPTER VII
Linda came suddenly the rapid pace of what must have been a large bell. It sounded no great distance away. The notes were deep and muffled as if the bell were being thumped by some substance hard enough to strike a clear tone. Also this pounding was irregular, both in its spacing and in the force of the successive blows. Linda said, "Another nutty performance."

"It tells us something though," Linda said. "We've pitched to land on an isolated reservation for a while. There may be something in it."

Plenty. Whatever dinky reputation this island belongs to has ended up its crazy nuisances and has ended up here. This is the owner's residence and he's gone off elsewhere.

There must be somebody in charge. That bell is probably where he's quartered. "They're given the island but taught to keep away from these premises. All you'd scarcely think he'd be without a keeper."

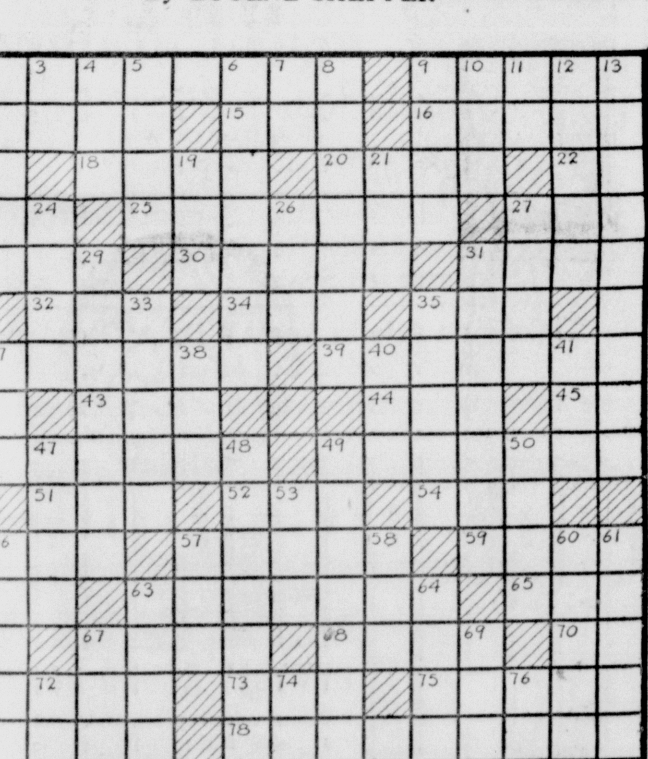

A horrible thought occurred to Linda but he kept it to himself. He wondered if the island could be

Jerome found a steel hook securely set in a round wooden block which was encircled by a heavy leather cuff.

The film, dealing with a drama set against a background of imperialistic Russia at the height of that nation's glory 50 years ago, is Garbo's 10th anniversary picture and Fredric March, who is seen in the role of "Vronsky," Garbo's lover, is her 16th leading man and gives his accustomed splendid performance.

The picture boasts a cast of 40 featured players including Freddie Bartholomew, as Garbo's adored son; Maureen O'Sullivan as the girl who loves Garbo's Vronsky; May Robson, "Grand Old Lady of the screen"; Basil Rathbone, famous for his characterization of Murdstone in "David Copperfield"; Garbo's stern husband; Reginald Denny and Reginald Owen; Joan Marsh, little Cora Sue Collins and many others.

For the first time in her screen career Garbo dances, appearing in the Mazurka scenes for which she rehearsed three weeks. Adrian, MGM fashion designer, who has created all of Garbo's screen wardrobes for the last six years, designed the gorgeous gowns she wears in "Anna Karenina."

"Anna Karenina" is the story of the girl by that name, the wife of an important government official of St. Petersburg, Basil Rathbone, who is much too busy to pay any attention to her or her son, Freddie Bartholomew. Anna Karenina meets Fredric March, a dashing army officer, and they fall deeply in love.

Anna's husband tells her that although he trusts her, if she persists in seeing Vronsky he will turn her out of her home and she will never see her son again. Anna, therefore, determines not to see Vronsky again but after a month, unable to stand it any longer she goes to him and tells him that she is willing to give up everything, even her son, for him.

They leave Russia and are very happy although Anna feels that they will be punished. They finally return to Russia where Anna one day manages to see her son, but is

House Cleaning At State Is Forecast

KENTON, Sept. 12.—Governor Davey told a rally of Hardin county Democrats Wednesday night "it seems to me that a general house-cleaning may be needed at Ohio State university." He previously had said he was considering asking the legislature to investigate the school administration since school officials protested his reduction of $1,266,500 in the institution's biennial appropriations.

BLONDE SINGER FOUND SLAIN

Son of Late Oil Millionaire Is Questioned By Police

It was then that Catano came here and notified Chief Glisson. While the police chief was awaiting the arrival of Deputy Coroner Harvey Cox, Rogers' attorney, Joseph Clark, rushed into the office and also reported a suicide at the farm.

When the party of police officials arrived at the Rogers place they found Rogers and a companion, William J. Kelly of Union City, N. J., in little condition for questioning, due, the chief said, to intoxication.

Party in Progress

Detective Grubb remarked later that the events preceding the tragedy apparently were "just another party."

All the persons at the farm were fully clothed.

Chief Glisson said he was told that Rogers, an hour before the shooting, had ripped the telephone from the wall. The fact that the phone was disconnected delayed notification of authorities about 45 minutes, he said.

There were many evidences of binge drinking, the police found. Unfinished drinks stood about on tables. There was soda, gingerale, liquor and melting ice in the living room.

What the nature of the quarrel was preceding the shooting was cloaked in lack of detail. Rogers told the officers that as a result of an exchange of words the torch snapper had shouted she was going to "pack up and go home." It was then she ran upstairs.

Shortly afterward, according to the story told, there was the sound of the shot that cost the actress her life.

The chauffeur told officers that both Rogers and Kelly had told him they were on the first floor of the house when the shooting occurred.

"Rogers had been drinking," said the chauffeur, "and was hard to understand. He said he heard the shot, ran upstairs, saw the girl's body and then came downstairs to call for help. Kelly said the same thing. Kelly added that he and Rogers were talking when the shot sounded."

Ex-Follies Star

The girl was born December 15, 1910, in Minneapolis. She was diminutive, blue eyed, and had honey-colored hair. In the summer of 1928 she played in Paris, and she had the feminine lead in the London production of "Good News." Her earlier experience included vaudeville appearances and a road tour with the "Greenwich Village Follies."

The shooting took place some time around midnight. It was still dark when the officers finished their first examination at the farm and brought Rogers to prison here. Kelly also was ordered held as a material witness.

Kelly is married. Mrs. Kelly, in Union City, declined to discuss the case until after she had received an expected telephone call from her husband this morning.

Rogers has been in and out of the public prints for many years, both by reason of the great wealth of his father, who died recently, and because of his own adventurous bent.

Worked in Cleveland

He quit the luxuries of his father's home before he was twenty, and went to work in a Cleveland, O., machine shop for 25 cents an hour. He wanted to be an engineer, he said, and intended to finish his education at Oxford.

In 1929 he was married to Miss Virginia Lincoln, the daughter of a Cleveland physician, but before the year was over there was talk of rifts and finally separation.

Hollywood called, and he got a $1-a-year job as cameraman with Paramount news. Because he lacked a union card he ran into difficulties at the Astoria, Long Island, studios when he undertook to make some "short subjects," and when he attempted to take "crowd" shots at Madison Square Garden, he was unceremoniously booted out.

Then Rogers went to Hollywood to give serious study to camera technique. In partnership with Harold McCracken, he undertook to produce pictures, and his first venture was a comedy concerning nudism.

On another occasion, with his camera, he went to the South Sea Islands.

Congressman Shot In Mexican Senate

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—A shooting affray in the chamber of deputies, during which one congressman was killed and three wounded, brought charges today of a plot against the government.

Luis Mora Tovar, president of the majority, left wing group of the chamber, told President Lazaro Cardenas administration opponents planned and executed the shooting.

Mora Tovar said minority members had been meeting secretly for some time, planning to use violent means to divide the legislative body.

He asserted hired gunmen took part in the exchange of shots late last night which caused the death of Deputy Manuel Martinez Valadez, majority member from Jalisco, and the wounding of Luis Mendez, Roman Campos Viveros and Mariano M. Vertiz.

listed for enrollment in CCC camps. Stillman outlined plans for liquidating transient centers in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron and Dayton during October. Eleven transient camps throughout the state will be closed.

He said this is part of the program of the federal relief administration for turning back the responsibility of caring for direct relief activities to the states.

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

—there is usually a definite reason for this

Now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day... this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired and run-down... a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve—by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

Quaker Gridders Favored In Opening Battle With Sebring

BIG SCHOOLS TURN ON HEAT

Coaches of Big Ten Group Wasting No Time At Grid Practice

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Big Ten football practice season was only three days old today, but the coaches had wasted no time in turning on the heat.

Only Ossie Solem of Iowa, let his men off with anything like an easy drill, and at Illinois, Bob Zuppke had his candidates trying for touchdowns.

At Illinois, the regulars, after looking none too good against the second stringers, managed to shove over one touchdown. Howie Carson, the prospective regular at fullback, put the ball in position for the final punch. With Henry, who is expected to replace Jack Beynon at quarterback, carried the ball over on a sneak.

Ohio State's comparatively small, but choice, squad, was given two heavy sessions, while Coach Francis Schmidt looked about for quarterback insurance. He planned on Stan Pincura and little William "Tippy" Dye to divide most of the signal calling, but was on the lookout for another quarterback "just in case."

Northwestern's squad was divided into six full teams which went through dummy scrimmages against forward passes, and later raced through signals. Coach Lynn Waldorf gave special attention to the linemen, seeking speed. At Chicago, Clark Shaugnessy also split his squad, but had only enough man power for two teams. He gave his men a dummy scrimmage on offense, with Jay Berwanger, one of the Big Ten's star backs, calling signals from the left halfback position.

Bernie Bierman and Minnesota received good news in an announcement that Clarence "Tuffy" Thompson, a triple threat sophomore halfback, and a possible successor to all American Pig Lund, had become eligible. The Gopher drill was strenuous and Whitman Rork, fullback candidate, had to be excused after he suffered a painfully bruised shoulder.

Dr. C. W. Spears started experimenting at Wisconsin, shifting Allen Mahneke, last year's regular center, to end in an attempt to strengthen that department. The shift was tried when Len Lovshin, an outstanding lineman, was sent to the sidelines for a month. An examination showed that a foot injury had not completely healed.

Purdue concentrated on a stiff dummy line drill in which regulars received most of the attention. At Indiana, Robert Kenderine, a big sophomore back, did some spectacular forward pass catching. Harry Kipke was so pleased with the condition of the Michigan squad, after a brisk scrimmage, that he ordered the squad divided for two regulation games Saturday.

As an additional incentive for victory over the Quakers Friday night the Sebring lads will be seeking revenge for the 32-0 setback they received here last season.

Quakers Scrimmage
The Quaker gridders went through the hardest scrimmage of their practice sessions so far this season at Reilly field last night. Following a brief drill of punting, Coach Smith lined up two squads and set them to work at scrimmage with Joe Kelley acting as referee. Charles Yeager, hip-switching halfback, continued to be the offensive threat during the practice by carrying the ball for touchdowns four different times.

In the early minutes of the scrimmage Fred Brannsch, 180 pound fullback candidate turned his ankle and was sent to the dressing room. It was uncertain today whether Brannsch will be available for duty Friday night.

Although Yeager has yet to taste his first encounter as a regular he showed by his ball-toting performance during the scrimmage, that despite his inexperience, he is aggressive, smart and hard to fool while on offense.

Lester Julian Outstanding
The playing of Lester Julian, scrappy 160 pound center was outstanding among the linemen. The main problem and the big difficulty which faces Coach Smith now is getting his gridders over their "greenness." He hopes that Friday night's battle will aid in smoothing out some of the more inexperienced players such as his two tackles, Frank Julian and Ralph Snyder.

Of the two squads which Smith has been instructing during the daily workouts he will probably choose King and Handlick as wingmen, Frank Julian and Snyder as tackles, Moffett and Patterson as guards, and Lester Julian as center for his starting line assignments in the game Friday night.

There is nothing sure about the backfield but with last night's scrimmage as a basis the lads behind the line will no doubt be Yeager and West at halfbacks, Williams at fullback, and Tibbs at quarterback.

In the above named probable

Eleven Lettermen Form Foundation of Sebring Team Which Will Face Quakers At Reilly Field, Friday Night

Paying little attention to pre-season predictions of a season that will go down in the annals of city sportdom as sensational, a highly touted squad of Salem High school gridders, with but a nine day practice schedule behind them, will make their initial appearance of the 1935 season under the lights of Reilly field Friday night against a Sebring High school gridiron machine, which Coach James Hostetler, Sebring mentor says, "may cause some trouble in the Tri-county league."

And you can take this from the lads who are going to answer the first whistle for the Salem High school football team, they're not considering the Sebring team, which has eleven lettermen among its squad, as a set-up.

Quakers Favored
Past performances, a larger school and tradition all combine to make the Quaker eleven the favorite, but there is always present, in any sport, the possibility of an upset. With this thought uppermost in its mind, the team which Coach Lewis Smith designates as his starting lineup will inaugurate its season with one policy—play football.

The contest is slated to get under way at 7:45 p. m. with H. C. Wagner of Warren, Hal Smith of Massillon, and Ray Reasbeck of Salem, handling the officiating.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope stated today that the reserved seat season booklets, which have been on sale since August 22, are still available to fans who wish to take advantage of this five-game offer for $15.00.

Coach Hostetler comes to Reilly field Friday night with a line averaging approximately 158 pounds and a backfield which will tip the scales at an average of 146 pounds.

With 11 lettermen as a foundation the Sebring mentor has hopes of shaping this team into one of the best that the school has had in recent years. His team last year registered but one victory out of their 10-game schedule—that over Newell, W. Va.

Thirty candidates turned out for the Sebring team at the start of practice and have been continuing workouts daily since the opening session.

Tie Ex-Highs
Last Saturday the team battled the Ex-Highs to a 6-6 deadlock and although the contest was not a scheduled event, it served as an experience workout for the new gridders.

No definite lineup has been set for the game Friday night, but from present indications Hostetler will probably start Mercer and Burns at ends, Armitage and Fullerton at Tackles, Workman and Ellis at guards, Fretage at center, Walker and Addings as halfbacks, Campbell at fullback, and Smith at quarterback. Walker and Campbell are the only members of the probable starting squad that are not lettermen.

It was reported today that Walker, who is the outstanding halfback prospect of the team, was injured during a scrimmage session earlier this week. However, if this player is not available for the contest Friday night, Hostetler has in reserve Bennington, who lacks experience but has proven a successful reserve for any backfield post.

As an additional incentive for victory over the Quakers Friday night the Sebring lads will be seeking revenge for the 32-0 setback they received here last season.

Quakers Scrimmage
The Quaker gridders went through the hardest scrimmage of their practice sessions so far this season at Reilly field last night.

Following a brief drill of punting, Coach Smith lined up two squads and set them to work at scrimmage with Joe Kelley acting as referee. Charles Yeager, hip-switching halfback, continued to be the offensive threat during the practice by carrying the ball for touchdowns four different times.

In the early minutes of the scrimmage Fred Brannsch, 180 pound fullback candidate turned his ankle and was sent to the dressing room. It was uncertain today whether Brannsch will be available for duty Friday night.

Although Yeager has yet to taste his first encounter as a regular he showed by his ball-toting performance during the scrimmage, that despite his inexperience, he is aggressive, smart and hard to fool while on offense.

Lester Julian Outstanding
The playing of Lester Julian, scrappy 160 pound center was outstanding among the linemen. The main problem and the big difficulty which faces Coach Smith now is getting his gridders over their "greenness." He hopes that Friday night's battle will aid in smoothing out some of the more inexperienced players such as his two tackles, Frank Julian and Ralph Snyder.

Of the two squads which Smith has been instructing during the daily workouts he will probably choose King and Handlick as wingmen, Frank Julian and Snyder as tackles, Moffett and Patterson as guards, and Lester Julian as center for his starting line assignments in the game Friday night.

There is nothing sure about the backfield but with last night's scrimmage as a basis the lads behind the line will no doubt be Yeager and West at halfbacks, Williams at fullback, and Tibbs at quarterback.

MULLINS BLANKS SMITHS; TO PLAY ELKS NEXT WEEK

Trinity Lutherans and Friends Tie, 7-7, In Church Loop

The Mullins Foremen's club today claimed undisputed rights to the honor of playing the Elks for the Class A league 1935 softball championship.

The Foremen, at Centennial park last night, with the aid of the stellar pitching of Charles McCloskey, blanked Smith's Creamery to win, 7-0, in the second game of the playoff series to decide who would play the Elks in the championship games, scheduled to get under way at Reilly field next week.

Mullins won the first game of the two-out-of-three series Tuesday evening.

McCloskey Stars
McCloskey turned in the leading performance of the game, holding the Smith team to three hits while his teammates were collecting seven runs.

Mullins scored in the first, third, fourth, fifth and seventh innings, with Debnar and Kennedy in the heavy-hitting roles.

While the Mullins team was gaining a victory in the Class A loop, the Trinity Lutherans and the Friends battled to a 7-7 tie in the Church league.

A four-run rally in the sixth inning enabled the Friends to tie the game after the Trinity Lutherans had led for four innings.

These two teams will tangle again at 6 p. m. today.

Well Dressed Umpire
Jim Primm, who was handling the base umpiring duties in the absence of Ray Reasbeck at the Class A game last night, provided a new opinion on what a well-dressed city league umpire should wear. Primm was nattily clad in a brown suit, brown shoes, and a baseball cap.

Trinity blasted from Detroit, meant cutting their activities down to about 30 seconds.

The experts have been looking about the Louis camp speculatively on just one thing—what will the 21-year-old sable sphinx, short of only one thing, experience, do when a big, rough, bulky fighter of Beef's type roars into him, slugging from both sides? Everything else they know of Louis's terrific belting power with either hand, his cleverness, his eternal aggressiveness.

Flowers and Ruggiello are in Baers, but when the Tiger got freest yesterday, tearing into Louis with both hands, Joe stretched him helplessly and bleeding on the ropes with a dozen surging smashes. Ruggiello, once a great prospect and still a big, rangy right hander, punched Joe with half a dozen solid rights, and took so many left hooks on the chin in the next few furious seconds that he had to quit.

Patty Berg Has One Stroke Lead

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Just one stroke separated the pacemaker, 17-year old Patty Berg of Minneapolis, and her closest pursuer today as the seventh annual women's western 72-hole medal play derby went into its final round.

The youngster, a finalist at the national title tournament in Minneapolis two weeks ago, ran into trouble yesterday at the Northmoore Country Club, and her five hole lead of the day before was all but wiped out. She required 83 strokes, far over her course record of 77 established Tuesday, and went to work today with a 54 hole total of 245.

Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., holder of the women's western title, shot a 79 to hold second place and move up to within a stroke of Miss Berg with 246.

LAWSON LITTLE BIDS FOR TITLE

San Francisco's Par Slugger Is Favored In Tournament

By PAUL MICHELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—That Little man was growing bigger today. As others answered the starter's call with him for the fifth round of battle in the 39th National Amateur Golf Championship, Lawson Little, Jr., San Francisco's broad shouldered par slugger supreme, was such a pronounced favorite he was even money to win his fourth amateur crown in succession.

Out of the series of sharp explosions that blew the last of the former titleholders out of the trenches yesterday, that Little man did a lot of dynamiting of his own to crush two game young foes and run six string of consecutive conquests to 27 straight. Blasting par by seven blows over the 28 holes he traveled, he mowed down Knox Young, Jr., Pittsburgh Insurance salesman, 6 & 5, and Bobby Riegel, southern amateur champion from Richmond, Va., 5 & 3.

Eyes On Little
The seemingly hopeless job of short circuiting the San Francisco powerhouse, who takes the fight out of his rivals right from the tee with 280 to 300-yard drives, fell to Warrington McCulloch, Jr., an automotive supply salesman from Philadelphia, in the first if the last two 18-hole "sudden death" duels today.

All eyes were fixed on Little and his bid for his second successive "double"—two British and two American amateur championships—but there was plenty of class left in the field. As such sharpshooters as Ross Somerville of Canada, Charles Yates of Atlanta, Dave Goldman and Reynolds Smith of Dallas and Ed White, national intercollegiate champion, were upset yesterday, the hottest series of rounds in the tournament's 39 year old play were scored.

Not a former champion was left standing and only one previous finalist, John Goodman of Omaha, still fought on. Goodman, making his best title showing in three years, won two tough matches yesterday.

Turnesa Prominent
In the last quarter with Little was Willie Turnesa, one of the seven noted golfing Turnesa brothers, who was actually eager to get a crack at Little. Last year at Brookline, Willie, 20-year old undergraduate at Holy Cross, was stopped by Little in the quarter-finals, 3 & 2, and to this day he still thinks he can beat him.

Willie has been playing superbly all week but must beat George Voigt, veteran from Mamareneck, a tough rival in any league, to earn another crack at the champion—if Little doesn't get upset himself. Voigt survived his fourth match by sinking a 20 foot putt for a birdie in the 19th to beat George Enos, Cleveland youngster.

Second only to Little in yesterday's missed attack on par was Walter Emory of Oklahoma City, 1935 national intercollegiate champion. The Oklahoman was four under par in the afternoon, rubbing out Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis with the almost incredible number of four deuces. Emery's next opponent is the veteran Eddie Held of Jamesburg, N. Y., who seems to improve with age. Eddie beat Scotty Campbell of Seattle in the morning in a match that was so hot that he needed a sub-par 70 to win and then on the 18th hole in the afternoon, Eddie vanquished Roger Peacock, the celebrated 62 shooter from Washington, D. C., 2 & 1.

Carrying on for Canada was the last foreign threat, John Nash, a club mate of Somerville's from London, Ont. Nash was one under par in defeating Yates, 3 & 2, in the biggest upset of the fourth round. Today, he meets Young Fred Hads, Jr., of New Orleans, former southern champion.

GIANTS OPEN SERIES WITH CARDS TODAY

Yanks Begin Last-Ditch Fight To Overtake Tigers

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant cauldron, which has been simmering for some time, began to bubble over today as the Giants still strong contenders for the National flag although relegated to third place, opened a series with the League-leading Cardinals and the Yankees began a last-ditch fight to overtake the fast flying Tigers.

The Yankee-Detroit affair was "crucial" only from the New York point of view since the Yankees were 7½ games behind at the start but the battle of St. Louis had so many angles that all three pennant contenders had to regard it as highly important.

3½ Games Behind
After varying fortunes in the first half of their western tour had left them 3½ games behind the Cards, the Giants needed a clean sweep of the four-game series to show any real progress. That would put them ahead of the Cards, but meanwhile by passing Brooklyn and the Giants would find themselves in another struggle for the lead when they go to Chicago next Monday.

Both teams had their mound axes ready to fire the opening guns today with Carl Hubbell scheduled to pitch for the Giants and Jerome (Dizzy) Dean for the Cards.

The other half of the Dean combination, Paul, warmed the Cards up for the big series yesterday by trimming the Phillies 10 to 2. Paul pitched a seven-hit game while Orville Jorgens, three-times victor over St. Louis this season, was blasted out by a seven-run spurge in the third.

GIANTS LOSE

The Giants, after three straight triumphs over Pittsburgh had moved them back into a threatening position, ran afoul of a Paul Waner hitting spree and went down 10 to 7 as Roy Parmelee failed to go the route for the eighth straight time.

The older Waner scored four runs and batted in six as he clouted a homer with the bases filled, a triple and two singles. As some consolation for his club, Mel Ott smacked homer No. 30 for the Giants, two doubles and a single.

The Cubs kept their place a game behind the Cards by walloping the Braves 15 to 3. It was Boston's 12th straight loss.

Depressions Help Tool Inventiveness

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—Designers and builders of the machine tool industry took stock of their efforts today and decided that six years of depression represent one of the most fertile periods in the inventiveness of their trade.

This very fact, they generally agreed, is probably the principal reason why leaders of the industry are now estimating the 1935 volume of its business will total $150,000,000—about $20,000,000 more than 1929 which was the previous largest year in the industry's history.

More than 1,000 members of the National Machine Tool Builders' association are attending its 10-day exposition here in which are displayed more than 900 machines to mark the trade's progress in the last six years.
